This multinorm jacket only offers a sufficient level of protection against the certified risks as full-body protection.
This means that the jackets must be worn with trousers offering the same level of protection. The performance test must be carried out with the complete set (jacket + trousers) before use.
Care must be taken to ensure that there is an overlap between the jacket and trousers when the wearer is correctly sized and that this is maintained, even if the standing wearer first stretches both arms completely over the head and then bends down until the fingertips touch the floor.
